New Bloy House Lay Licensing Training Program

Bloy House has been working closely with the diocese for many months to develop training for licensing lay ministries. The next issue of the Episcopal News Update will describe the new program. Bloy House is building out a training schedule for this purpose, as well as offering general lay formation courses.

You can read in detail about the diocesan lay licensing process here.

For both clergy and lay leaders, this class will host a collaborative discussion on how to plan adult formation; enhance packaged curriculum or develop new curriculum; design activities to deepen participant engagement; prepare promotional materials; facilitate Zoom classes; and handle difficult situations that arise in small or large groups. Facilitated by Linda Allport, Dean, Bloy House. Linda has over 35 years' experience in leading bible study and adult formation in a variety of group settings. Join us to get new ideas and share with others!

This class is recommended for those wishing to be licensed as a Lay Pastoral Leader, and required for licensing as a Lay Catechist. Click here for more information.

Genesis 1 and 2: A Fresh Exploration of the Creation Stories

Monday Evenings, Oct 2, 9, 16, 23

7:00 - 8:30 pm

Via Zoom

$25

Taught by our popular Hebrew Scripture facilitator, the Rev. Dr. Mary Tororeiy, this class will increase our skills for reading and understanding Hebrew Scripture using the first two chapters of Genesis as our text. We will explore and contrast general themes from these two creation accounts, focusing on human identity, gender, and the natural world. Join us for an engaging and thought-provoking discussion!

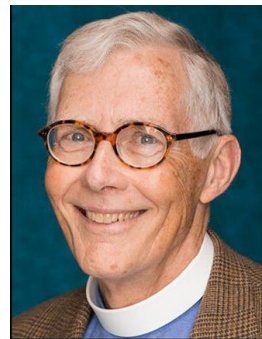

Episcopal Identity

Wednesday Evenings, Oct 25, Nov 1, 8, and 15

7:00-8:30 pm

How would you describe the modern Episcopal Church - its theology, its worship and community, its history, its organization, and what you love about it - to a friend who has never experienced it? A deeper dive than a confirmation class, even cradle Episcopalians will learn something new about our church. Facilitated by Gary Hall, President of Bloy House, and Linda Allport, Dean.

This class is required for all licensed lay ministries, except Eucharistic Minister and Eucharistic Visitor, where it is recommended. Click here for more information.
